S1-6 Global Goal of the Week: Over a third (39.6%) of the UK's energy currently comes from renewables. Edinburgh council aims to be carbon neutral by 2030. The UK's sustainable target is to hit net zero by 2050. Net zero means to balance the harmful emissions released through things like burning fossil fuels by making sustainable choices. Generating renewable energy at home through solar panels, choosing your home energy supplier carefully, or minimising your heating use are effective ways to contribute on an individual scale!
